

One of today most exciting nutritional breakthroughs for decades, millions of people around the world have enjoyed the remarkable health benefits of the herb stevia, a natural sweetener native to Asia and the jungles of South America—and now available in the United States. Though 200 to 300 times sweeter than sugar, stevia contains no calories and has an effective glycemic index of zero, making it safe for diabetics and ideal for anyone trying to lose weight.

During Stevia Tasteful 2012, Mr Jim A. May, CEO of Sweetlaf, will present many therapeutic and nutritional values of stevia. During this presentation, youo will learn more about stevia's ability to restore pancreatic function and correct blood-sugar problems, lower high blood pressure, reduce oral bacteria that causes gum disease...

Mr May will also get you information on where to find stevia, easy preparation techniques, and suggestions for using stevia to sweeten foods and beverages.

If you are interested to know more about stevia, come and join us for the 4th World International Congress on Stevia: Stevia Tasteful 2012, which will be held in Paris in May 24-25
